

Seminar series of the MTA TK „LENDÜLET” Research Center for Educational and Network Studies (RECENS) Fall/Winter 2013

Program:

September 3, 2013

Zoltán Brys (Literatura Medica Network Science Section)

Network Analysis of Pharmaceutical Ads in the Hungarian Medical Journals – Marketing versus Medicine

September 10, 2013

Michelle O. Crosby-Nagy (Corvinus University of Budapest)

LinkedIn Ego Networks as a New Data Source for Innovation Network Studies?

September 17, 2013

Hervin Fernandez Aceves (Central European University)

A Relational View of the Norman Kingdom of Sicily and its Royal Court:
An Attempt to Project the Social System Constructed by ‘Hugo Falcandus’

October 1, 2013

Ilaria Bertazzi (University of Turin, Collegio Carlo Alberto)

Debt relationships: a power game. Historical evidence and an Agent-Based model

October 8, 2013

Péter Róbert (Hungarian Academy of Sciences, Institute for Political Sciences)

October 15, 2013

More Information Soon

November 12, 2013

Jeromos Vukov (Hungarian Academy of Sciences, Institute for Technical Physics and Materials Science)

Incipient Cognition Solves the Reciprocity Conundrum of Cooperation in Structured Populations

November 19, 2013

Zoltán Barta (Hungarian Academy of Sciences, "Lendület" Behavioural Ecology Research Group)

Individual Variation and Social Evolution

November 26, 2013

More Information Soon

December 10, 2013

Anna Rácz, Zsolt Unoka, Péter Soltész (Semmelweis University)

The lectures are always in English.

Each seminars start at 4:30 pm.

Location: Budapest, Országház u. 30

Lecture room, Institute for Political Science of MTA Centre for Social Sciences

For more information, please, contact us: recens@tk.mta.hu

